ARLINGTON BOARD OF TRADE

The Arlington Board of Trade opened the New Year with one of the best meetings it has held for some time, there being apparent the spirit of the new year on which the association is entering, in the friendly feeling and helpful suggestions that were made during the business session.

As usual the meeting was held in G. A. R. Hall, a dinner coming first, and served by the Hardy Catering Company in the banquet hall. It included ham, mashed potato, escaloped oysters, banana fritters, crab meat salad, ice cream, cake and coffee.

President R. Walter Hilliard greeted the members in his usual happy manner, extending best wishes for a happy new year to all present. If all the predictions that Mr. Hilliard has for the Board of Trade, come true, this year will be a prosperous and successful one.

After the routine business had been disposed of, the company was favored with a violin solo, finely rendered by Mr. Harry I. Tinkham, who later was again heard in a splendid number. New applications for membership showed that the organization is growing.

Since the last meeting the organization has lost one of its members by death, George S. Smith, and at this time, resolutions were passed relating to his loss and for a few minutes the members stood in silence, to show their respect to his memory.

At the last meeting the matter of a memorial for the boys of this town who served in the World War, was taken up, which brought out considerable discussion, with the result that a committee was appointed by the Board of Trade, to look into this all important matter, which Arlington seems to have forgotten. At the meeting Tuesday evening, Chairman Arthur Birch, of the committee, reported that he had sent communications to several sculptors and others, but had not received a reply, probably due to the excess of mail during the holidays, which had delayed his letters in transit. He was of the opinion that by the next meeting his committee would have something to report.

Charles H. Forsaith, who was appointed to look into the matter of welcome signs at the entrances to the town, reported that he had had a conference with the Town Engineer, but that they could not fully agree on where the signs were to be placed. He also asked for further time.

President Hilliard brought up the idea of forming a gymnasium class for one night a week, among the members of the Board of Trade. He stated that the matter had been called to his attention by other business men, and he felt that it was a good thing. He presented Ralph C. Henriksen, director of athletics in the schools of the town. Mr. Henriksen is very much interested in this matter, and told the men he felt that

GIRL SCOUT DANCANT

For the second time the Council of Arlington Girl Scouts conducted a New Year's dancant. As was the case last year, the dancant was held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, New Year's afternoon, from 2.30 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Curtis Waterman, commissioner; Mrs. James A. Bailey, deputy commissioner, and Mrs. Frederick Sawyer, head of the Brownies, were the matrons and received in the lower right hand corner of the hall.

Mrs. G. A. Hastings and Miss Alice W. Homer were the dance committee, with Mrs. Oscar Schuetzner, Mrs. Frank E. White, Mrs. A. M. Walcott and Mrs. Frederick Low, in charge of refreshments.

The attendance was not quite as large as last year, but like last year, included all ages, from the "Brownies," to mothers and fathers, big brothers and sisters, home for the college vacation; aunts and uncles. All danced, but the reporter is quite sure it was only the young people who really had the best time, for it will have to be acknowledged that jazz music does not appeal to those who have been educated to the Strauss waltzer and music of that type, which those instruments were made to play other than the hectic notes that now find such favor among the dancing sets in general.

There were quite a number who came only to look on from the balcony and it was indeed an interesting sight. The music for dancing was by "The Original Six."

FORUM MEETING SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The last public Forum of the season will be held next Sunday, January 6th, at 4 p. m., in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall. The speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Helen Fraser, of England, who will take for her subject, "World Problems and Solutions." Miss Fraser has been associated with Lady Astor and stood for Parliament in the 1922 election. This brilliant Englishwoman is already well known in this country by reason of her lecture tour in 1917-18, the most extensive ever undertaken by a woman. Her special genius is a faculty for seeing ahead on world problems and movements. Her knowledge of international affairs has been greatly increased by the work which she has done in important committees, as a member of the Institute of National Affairs, of the Common Interest Committee of the English Speaking Union, of the Executive Committee of the National Union of Societies for Equal Citizenship and of the Council for the Representation of Women in the League of Nations.

Miss Fraser is a magnetic speaker, but it is not on that alone that her influence over an audience depends, but rather on her sane optimism and her authoritative knowledge of affairs.

Mrs. William A. Muller, who is a friend of Miss Fraser, will preside at the meeting and the Community Honor, assisted Judge Brackett and nish the ushers.

NEW YEAR'S DAY WEDDING HILL-GUNN

On New Year's Day, January 1st, at St. Kierman's church, in Berlin, N. H., Miss Christine C. Gunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Gunn, of 47 Church street, of that city, became the bride of Mr. Clarence F. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hill, of 38 Brattle lane, of this town. The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock, by Rev. Fr. Mackey, attended by Rev. Fr. MacSweeney, and was the single ring service. Music was given by Mr. Randolph McGivney, organist, and solos were rendered by Miss Laura Blain.

The bride was attractively gowned in blue georgette over silver cloth, with wrap of gerona trimmed with grey squirrel and wearing silver hat to match. Her bouquet was bride's roses. Miss Rosamond A. Moffet attended as bridesmaid and wore a suit of blue velvet, trimmed with grey kit fox, with hat to match. She carried chrysanthemums. Mr. George E. Hill, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Frank H. Sheridan, of Somerville, Mass.; Mr. Peter J. Morgan, and Mrs. Bernard M. Covioe, of Berlin, N. H.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 47 Church street, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, potted plants and cut flowers. Over one hundred and fifty friends and relatives attended the reception, held from 10.30 until 12 o'clock, at which time, dinner was served to fifty relatives and members of the bride's family. The couple left for Portland, Maine, stopping at the home of the groom enroute. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hill will live in Springfield, Mass., where the groom is located with the Mack Motor Truck Company.

MASON DAY AT LOCKE SCHOOL TUESDAY, JANUARY 8th

Mason Day will be observed at the Locke school, next Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the auditorium. The birthday of Dr. Lowell Mason called the Father of American Music will be celebrated with fitting exercises and several of Lowell Mason's songs will be sung by the school children, including the first song ever sung in the American schools. Dr. Mason was the man responsible for music being in the school program. The first time music was sung in the schools, was in the 1830's.

Mr. Henry Mason, grandson of Dr. Mason and a member of the Mason Hamlin firm, will be present, and make a few remarks in keeping ing with the program. At this time the Arlington Study Club will present the Locke school with a portrait of Dr. Lowell Mason. The afternoon will be open to the public, who are cordially invited to be present.

ARLINGTON GRANGE INSTALLATION

The public installation of officers elected at the December 20th meeting, of the Arlington Grange, was held at Ye Lantern, on Wednesday evening, January 2nd.

The charter, which was signed with forty names, at the last meeting, was closed on this evening and twenty-five other names were added, making a total of sixty-five members of the Arlington Grange. The meeting was opened with Mr. Edward C. Coleman, appointed deputy in charge.

Mrs. Katherine Brown McCarron, past-master of Melrose Grange, was installing officer and with her staff gave four beautiful tableaux symbolic of the duties of the officers. The Calvary Male Quartet rendered several selections. The Bedford Grange officers held office until the newly installed officers of Arlington exchanged with the Bedford officers. Mrs. Frank O. Berquist, master of the Arlington Grange, was presented with a gavel by the Bedford Grange. Instructions of duties were given to the newly installed officers by the officers in charge. The regular business of the meeting was transacted. Addresses were given by Mr. Houghton, acting color bearer; Mr. Marston, worthy master of the Metropolitan Pomona Grange; Mr. Connors and Mr. Wallace, a past master of Waltham Grange. Over two hundred and fifty persons were present and witnessed the installation.

The regular meetings of the Grange will be held the first and third Wednesdays of each month, at Ye Lantern, on Spy Pond.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. William A. Wilson, Mrs. R. Benson and Mrs. Carrie Wilson.

NEW YEAR'S PARTIES

MIDDLESEX SPORTSMAN'S ASS'N

The club house was taxed to its utmost on New Year's Eve, with a merry company, who, through the entire evening, made it apparent that they were intent upon making the most of the few passing hours of the old year, and to proper usher in the new one, for which ceremony they were gathered. Leslie E. A. Smith, chairman of the entertainment committee, provided a group of entertainers, who gave a splendid concert, the first part of the evening. It was the Hutter Trio, made up of Agnes Hutter, soprano; Horace Hutter, xylophone, and Barbara Hutter, pianist. All the artists gave pleasure, but especially was the numbers by Mr. Hutter, who played delightfully on his instrument. Following the program, refreshments were served in the lower hall. Dancing to the music of Aderson's orchestra, occupied the remainder of the evening and was much enjoyed. As the hour of midnight approached, noise making favors were distributed. The company marched about the hall, each having been given a cup filled with punch, which was drank with the President, District Attorney Reading, as he gave three toasts, each in most appropriate sentences, beautifully expressed. As the last spoke of the departing hour of midnight sounded, there burst forth shouts of "Happy New Year" and sounds from the noise making favors, that made the hall vibrate with the merry making.

ARLINGTON LODGE OF ELKS

Arlington Lodge of Elks held another one of its pleasant informal parties on Monday evening at Ye Lantern on the shore of Spy Pond. The hall was filled with members and their ladies, seeing the old year out and the new year in, amid fun, dancing and eating, for during the evening, a very inviting buffet luncheon was served, this being a happy thought on the part of the committee in charge, of which Richard L. Powers was chairman. Any one attending, who did not have a good time had himself to blame, for it was like one big family party. There were favors given out to the dancers including colored hats, that added much to the party. Just as the hour of twelve started to toll, every one was given a noise maker which they used to good advantage. All about the hall there were decorations appropriate to the season. No entertainment program was arranged for, the party spending the entire evening in dancing and luncheon, as suited their pleasure.

ENCAMPMENT NO. 82, I. O. O. F.

The New Year was ushered in with lots of fun and music at the dancing party given in Odd Fellows' Hall Monday evening by Arlington Encampment, No. 82, I. O. O. F. Up to midnight, the gentlemen and ladies enjoyed general dancing, favor dances being on the list and also an elimination dance, this being won by Harold Crawford and Miss Gladys Brenton. The decorations of the hall were very attractive. The lights on the walls were covered in red and green, while from the center of the hall, hundreds of balloons were hung. These as the New Year came in, were let loose when there was a general scramble for ownership of one, with the result that many were burst, this adding to the fun of the evening. Just before midnight, balls of paper were given the dancers and these were thrown across the wires which had been set for them. The result was a maze of paper and through this the dancers whirled. Then came the grand march, when the noise makers were given out, and then the real fun began. The orchestra was a minor detail for the dancers, the horns and rattles drowning out the music. The committee, Harold Needham, Gordon Kennedy and Frederick Campbell, are to be congratulated on the great success of the party, which had many attractive features. Refreshments were served during the evening. The affair was one of the most enjoyable and successful that the Encampment has ever had. The committee saw to it that every one had a good time.

The annual New Year's Eve costume party of the Assembly and Community Clubs, was held at G. A. R. Hall, with forty-five couples attending. The rooms were made attractive with decorations of rainbow colors and the lights were covered with the various hues and decorated with streamers. A large flag was draped in the center of the room, concealing favors which, when disclosed, were used by the guests to herald the New Year. There were all kinds of novelty dances that added to the merriment of the evening. At 9.30, there was the grand march, at which time the winners of the costume prizes were determined by the members of the orchestra. The costumes were many, some pretty, some original and some humorous. The prizes were awarded to the following:—Mrs. Walter K. Thayer, Miss Dorothy Van Horn, Mrs. Walter F. Angus, Mr. Charles Hersey, Mr. F. V. Edgell and Mr. Walter K. Angus. The prize of the elimination waltz was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Worcester. Buffet luncheon was served in the supper rooms of the hall. The music for the dancing was furnished by a three piece orchestra. The party closed at 1 o'clock.

The committee in charge was Mrs. Walter K. Thayer assisted by Mrs. Rulon Green, Mrs. Cecil Cowdrey and Mrs. Charles Hersey, of the Assembly Club and Mr. Harry Connell, assisted by Mr. Herbert J. Woodbine, Mr. Charles Fitch and Mr. James Hersey, of the Community Club.

GREETING THE NEW YEAR

Clear sky and bracing air greeted us of this section of the country on New Year's Day. Skating, skiing and all other outdoor sports could be indulged in as far as weather was concerned, for the snow that had fallen a few days previous had remained on the ground and the rain that had come the day previous to New Year's, while causing the snow to disappear from the streets and sidewalks on the more traveled districts, had remained in sufficient quantities on fields and side streets, due to the cold wave that followed the rain, so that real winter conditions prevailed.

This vacation period for the boys and girls in our schools has been what one might term a hectic one, for there has been one round of pleasure. Not perhaps the kind that our fathers and mothers enjoyed, but that kind that now constitutes having a good time, for the up-to-date boy and girl, young man and woman.

We overheard one mother say that she would be glad to have school resume, for her household was being entirely demoralized by the constant whirl in which she had been living the past ten days.

We wonder how many other mothers would say the same thing. Dancing seems to have been the chief diversion this season. Dancing, did we say? Well that is what the young people call it. To the spectator of a past generation, it does not seem just like what was formerly thought of as dancing. Where is the beautiful, graceful waltz, the fascinating schottish, the enjoyable Portland fancy, and the polka glide? We imagine some of our young readers have never seen these dances or even know there are such, but we assure our young people, these dances are coming back. They are being taught in the best of dancing schools and are the latest. They can't be danced to that dreadful jazz, jazz music, where noise prevails, instead of music.

The writer was at a recent dance when the music was so boisterous that it were questioned if the dancers were really enjoying it, but when we remarked the lack of real music, the comeback was, "well, perhaps it is not real music, but the time is great." This must be the answer, for there certainly is no music in the sounds that proceed from instruments that were made for beautiful tones.

However, we are living in a wonderful age. We must admit it. Even if some of us do not enjoy the transition through which we are passing, we must admit that never has there been evident even among our young people, characteristics that tend to make men and women with more initiative and keen intellect. They do not perhaps do things the way their parents did, but they surely are showing some traits, if properly directed, that will make keener men and women.

Our future is in the young people of today. Never have they had such an opportunity to make good than in the present year on which we have entered. If the first day of the year is a forerunner of what is to follow, then we may expect great things, not only of the year, but of what we all shall put into it, for, after all, we only have reason to expect what we are willing to give.

Let it be the aim of all to give our best. Then when the last day of 1924 comes around, perhaps we will have less of regrets and more of happiness in which to close the year, and to begin a new one.

LEGISLATURE CONVENES

On Wednesday the General Court assembled in the State House in Boston, for its second session and listened to the message of Governor Cox, outlining the needs of the state. More than ordinary interest was shown in the joint session on Wednesday, for in a sense it was a farewell to matters political on the part of His Excellency, he having recently announced that on retirement from office at the close of the present year, he proposes to retire to private life.

Hon. Channing Cox has filled his high office for an unusually lengthened term with high credit to himself and large advantage to the Commonwealth. He has so faithfully served and will retire to the practice of his profession carrying the good will and good wishes of the great bulk of voters.

Massachusetts has in the past, been glad to advance the political fortunes of faithful servants and in the case of Gov. Cox there seemed awaiting such promotion, for him. His action removes any sort of jealousy that might have been either entertained or aroused and will add to the long list of those who have been his well wishers.

Fully organized a year ago, the Legislature meets as a competent business aggregation and assembling almost on the real opening of the year should be able, in spite of the mass of business already piled on the desks of clerks and committees, to make the session a short one.

WHY SURTAXES SHOULD BE REDUCED

Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democratic member on the House Ways and Means committee, which is to handle the tax reduction bill, has issued a statement in which he denounces the administration tax reduction program as being a fraud.

Mr. Garner asserts that by its provision for a reduction of high surtaxes, a few very large income surtax payers will be the chief beneficiaries of the bill. This is demagoguery gone to seed.

The records of the Internal Revenue bureau show that the number of individuals paying income tax on $300,000 a year, or over, are today only one-fifth of the number that made returns six years ago, yet no one believes for an instant that the number of individuals who have large incomes has decreased. Why, then, this diminution in the number of returns?

The answer is found in the high surtax provisions of the federal law. Rather than pay the high surtaxes, men of wealth have invested their money in tax-exempt securities. This is exactly why Secretary Mellon urges a reduction in the surtaxes. In his letter to Representative Green, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, Secretary Mellon made that point very clear. He said:

"These taxpayers are withdrawing their capital from productive business and investing it in tax-exempt securities, and adopting other lawful methods of avoiding taxable income. The result is to stop business transactions that would normally go through, and to discourage men of wealth from taking risks incidental to the development of new business. Ways will always be found to avoid taxes so destructive in their nature and the only way to save the situation is to put the taxes on a reasonable basis that will permit business to go on and industry to develop."

The fact is, men of large income will not be the beneficiaries of a reduction of the federal surtaxes. Such men now escape such surtaxes altogether by investing their money in tax-exempt securities. Neither Secretary Mellon nor the administration is advocating lower surtaxes out of sympathy for the rich man or any desire to lessen his tax burden. They are advocating such a reduction out of a desire to attract capital back into fields of investment in industries, railroads and business, where the public may be benefited by such investment and the government benefited by increased revenues.

Secretary Mellon in his report upon the subject clearly brought this out. He pointed out that "the farmer is now complaining, and rightly so, of the high freight rates and the high cost to him of that which he has to buy. The railroads of this country require a billion dollars a year of new capital in order that they may properly maintain their service. . . . The cost of capital is, therefore, one of the largest items of expense in the conduct of railroads. Nothing has so contributed to this additional cost of capital as the surtaxes which have driven the large investors from railroad to tax-exempt securities."

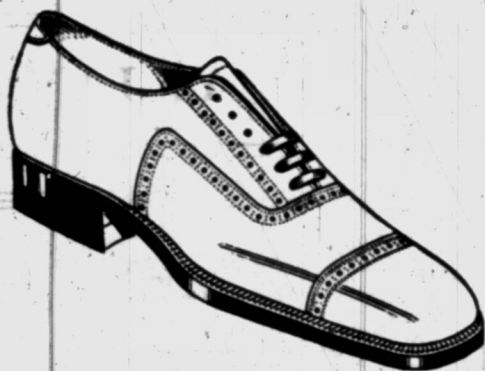

In another place Secretary Mellon says: "Taxpayers subject to the higher rates can not afford to invest in American railroads or industries or embark upon new enterprises in the face of taxes that will take 50 per cent or more of any return that may be realized."

In the long run the public pays the high surtax. As Secretary Mellon points out, "the demands of capital for higher return by reason of the high surtax rates have raised the cost of all manufactured products." In other words, the man who has his money tied up in industry or business or railroads and cannot escape the surtax, merely passes the tax on to the consumer.

President Coolidge clearly emphasized this fact in his annual message to Congress, in which he said: "High taxes reach everywhere and burden everybody. They bear most heavily upon the poor. They diminish industry and commerce. They make agriculture unprofitable. They increase the rates on transportation. They are a charge on every necessity of life."

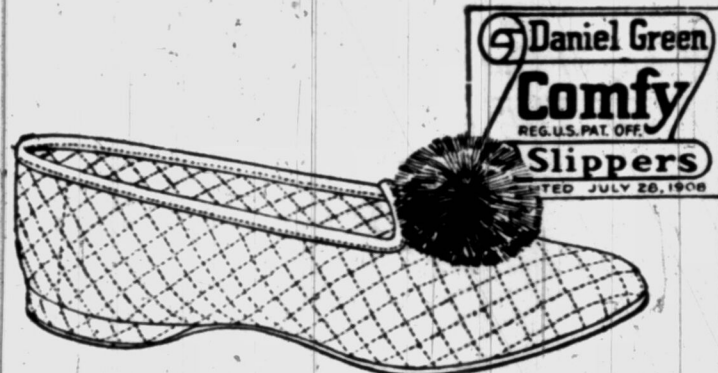

The charge, then, of Congressman Garner and his like that any proposed reduction in the high surtaxes benefits the very rich man and is of no consequence to the rest of the people is a charge not in keeping with the facts. The very rich man does not need any change in the income tax law. He can escape it by putting his money in tax-exempt securities. In fact, the majority of our rich men are now doing this very thing. The existing mass of tax-exempt securities aggregate about eleven billion dollars. Those who have these billions invested in these securities escape federal surtaxes altogether. A reduction of surtaxes would not therefore prevent it, but it would prevent additional capital from being invested in such securities and keep it invested in productive enterprises of some kind, thus affording employment, creating additional wealth to be put on tax duplicates and reducing costs of production generally.

RADIO LISTENER FEELS SACREDNESS OF CHURCH SERVICE

Ever since church services were broadcast by radio and became popular with the radio listener, certain jesters and cartoonists have led the public to believe that such services were attractive because the fan could either hear them while still in bed or with a pipe in his mouth and with his feet cocked up on a nearby table. Endless jokes to this effect have been made and cartoons have even been drawn showing the man in his home enjoying the service and chuckling over the fact that he did not have to dig his hand in his pocket when the collection box was passed.

While the jokester may do this himself and the cartoonist may be depicting his own actions, statistics have shown that the majority of the people who stay at home, either voluntarily or involuntarily, feel the sacredness of the services that they hear even to the extent of sending by mail the contribution that they cannot give in person while the offertory is being played on the church organ.

Letters received by Westinghouse Radio Station WBZ at Springfield attest to the fact that radio church services are a serious matter to a great many people; serious to the shut-in who has not had an opportunity of visiting his church for years and to whom radio services are a gift from heaven as well as a prayer to it; serious to the farmer who finds it difficult to hitch up his horses when the snow is three feet deep or to start his plow when the mercury is ten below, in order to drive ten miles to the nearest church. These are features that the jokester overlooks.

Ministers whose business it is to direct and analyze the morals of the people understand the potent influence of religion by radio. It gives them inspiration to know that their message of God is not being heard alone by the hundreds who sit before them, but by thousands of persons in their homes; many of whom cannot visit the church on account of infirmity or of distance.

Such people who are moved to write letters of appreciation for service so heard, while they might not state it, belie the accusation that radio services are taken as a joke. Regardless of creed, their letters hold a reverence for the sermon and music that comes to them through space.

That people do not stay at home because they can do so without missing the service is contradicted by the substantial addition of members to a Pittsburgh congregation shortly after the services were first broadcast. This increase was directly attributed to radio by the pastor of this church.

Contributions by radio, while they might not be as numerous as those made in the church, mean a thousand times more than the latter, as an offering to God. In the church, while many are actuated by the holiness of giving, others give because their neighbors do. With the radio it is different. No one knows or ever will know that a person is getting the service in his home. There is no one near him to reproach if he does not contribute. Therefore, his offering received a few days later by mail, indicates a desire to give for no other reason than for the joy of giving.

What the radio church service holds for the future is difficult to predict, but overwhelming evidence has already been collected to show that it is of untold blessing to thousands and that it is a too serious matter to be the butt of the comic weeklies.

Chats with Your Gas Man

The gas that is piped to your house and that you burn in your kitchen range, your water heater, in other appliances and in your fireplace, is actually the spirit of coal—nothing more.

It is the spirit of coal with the ashes and dirt taken out before you burn it. You are getting only the part that burns and, equally important, the only part that burns. That is why gas service is so marvelously efficient.

So clean and free from bother is gas service that it leaves only one problem in using it, and that is how to get the most out of it at the least possible cost. If your service is not satisfactory give us the first opportunity to remedy conditions. We want every customer to be a satisfied customer.

SOWERS DANCING PARTY A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The Sowers Lend-a-Hand held a brilliant dancing party, Saturday evening, December 28th, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. We use the word brilliant advisedly, for the gowns worn by many of the ladies made a scene that was most fascinating. The brilliant reds in chiffon velvet, and the orange, green, lavender, and blue, some in velvet and some in taffeta, gave a picture that was most alluring, enhanced as it was by the vivacious and interesting group of young women, as well as men, representing college circles, together with the older dancing set that is always to be found at the Lend-a-Hand parties. The party was limited by the management to two hundred, and the full number was present.

The stage was set with a great deal of taste, the exterior of a colonial mansion being suggested by its floor yard, decorated in the pointsettias and tall palms, effectively placed, so that one would not need but a bit of imagination to feel that they were gazing into a southern home. Amid this inviting scene, was stationed Treadwell's orchestra with Mr. Frederick's leading, and never has it given more satisfaction. Their playing was such that one could not help but dance, for the rhythm was so perfect, that one's feet just had to keep time to the music.

There were several groups, who, previous to the dance, were entertained at dinner and there were other groups who came from out of town, but who were former residents of Arlington. Among this latter, was Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Caswell (Miss Devereaux), and Miss Helen Wyman, of Brookline, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holdsworth, former residents of Norfolk road, now of Brookline. The college contingent was present in large numbers.

The dressing of the ladies seems to be more elaborate than ever, the oriental influence apparent in the texture of materials used now-a-days, the silver and gold cloth and the brilliant colors, having given place to the more sombre hues and the pastel shades that have been "the style." The elaborate head dressing also suggest the oriental and we might also say, barbaric influence. This, however, is more in the dressing of the hair, some coiffures being to say the least, unusual. The style of the hair parted in the center and dressed in waves, is pleasing to a certain type of face, but this does not mean that every one should adopt it. However, there is not a town where the ladies dress in more perfect taste and with more elaborateness than in Arlington, so that one is usually justified in the statement that it was a brilliant party.

The reporter has suggested the texture of the gowns, many of which were unusual. Among the younger set, there was an orange chiffon made with side ruffles of the chiffon with front panel and bodice of white and orange brocade. This was worn by a decided brunette and was most effective. Another orange chiffon was combined with gold lace that was modish. One of the loveliest toilettes and worn by one of the more attractive young women present was in shades of green chiffon, combined with a lighter shade of green for the wide girdle. Among the dainty dresses was one of blue chiffon with rosettes on the skirt of silver lace with one deep pink rose in the center rosette. This gown also had a touch of black, which was noticeable on many of the light toilettes. There was a pale pink that had ruffles of narrow black lace put on at intervals on the skirt. The waist was confined with a light shade of green ribbon and the shoulder straps were a combination of the green ribbon with gold and black lace picked out with tiny wreaths of pink roses. There was an apricot taffeta with garnitures of forget-me-nots on the front panel. A green chiffon, combined with the brocade velvet in the same shade, was especially effective on the wearer, who was a pronounced blonde. Another beautiful toilette was of blue chiffon velvet with a cobweb design at the side done in steel beads. One of the handsomest toilettes worn by a young matron, was a black velvet with an under petticoat of silver lace and front panel of the lace with touches of ermine. A hunter's pink chiffon velvet was most becoming to its wearer, a young matron. A blue chiffon velvet, similar to the color of one already described, was worn by one of the pretty buds of the party, and another bud was very striking in her bright red toilette, which was especially becoming, for she is a decided brunette. Another dainty toilette among the group, was of white chintilly lace, and so the reporter might go on indefinitely.

The committee was most hospitable, and the evening came to a close all too soon. The Hardy Catering Company served ice cream at intermission and the individual cakes served were provided by the members of the club.

Mrs. George H. Stokes was the chairman of the committee and received in a sequins toilette in silver, blue and black, combined with side drapery of black tulle. She had as her assistants, Mrs. Guy Sanger, who was in blue chiffon velvet; Mrs. Robert Begier, who wore black velvet; Mrs. John S. Meserve, who was also in black velvet, and Mrs. George Yale, who wore an Alice blue beaded chiffon gown.

A GOOD STRAW HAT STORY

There is a good story going the rounds on John O'Donnell, a well known foreman of the Boston Elevated Railway. The story has to do with a straw hat.

One morning last week, Mr. O'Donnell went to the cellar to attend to his furnace before leaving for home, and as is his usual custom, put on an old straw hat to protect his hair from the ashes. This is not unusual, but here is where the joke begins, for Mr. O'Donnell, unmindful of that straw hat, boarded the car at his usual stop and rode to Scollay Square before he made the discovery that the relic of warmer days was still on his head, a friendly guard having "put him wise" in regard to that straw hat, by inquiring if he were not trying to force the season, a bit.

John had wondered why his appearance on the car had seemed to afford such amusement among the passengers. It did not take him long to get rid of that hat which he flung into the street, and proceeded to purchase one adapted to the wintry weather. His lapse of memory cost him a new hat.

Funeral services for John O'Brien, a resident of this town for over 40 years, most of which he resided on Lake street, were held in St. Agnes' church on Saturday morning. A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Donald F. Simpson and attended by many. Music was sung by members of the church choir. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery. Mr. O'Brien was a member of Division 23, A. O. H., of this town, and a delegation from that organization attended the services and acted as honorary bearers. ### JOHN MELIA

John Melia, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Melia, of 35 Varnum street, died on Christmas Day at the Government Hospital, in Oxford, Maine, where he was trying to overcome the effects of being badly gassed, during the late war. Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters and three brothers.

MRS. ANNETTE SHEEHAN

Mrs. Annette Sheehan, widow of Michael Sheehan, of 102 Bow street, died at her home on Thursday, December 27th. Mrs. Sheehan had been a resident of the Heights for a great many years and will be well remembered by the older residents of that section. Of late years she has been confined to the house, a cheerful, sunny disposition and a kindly manner that won her many warm friends, who will mourn her loss. The funeral took place on Monday morning, a solemn high mass of requiem being celebrated in St. James' church, the pastor, Rev. David R. Heffernan being the celebrant. The service was attended by a large number. The bearers were John Hodge, James H. Hill, Martin J. Gallagher, James Reardon, Dennis Reardon and John Buckley. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery. Mrs. Sheehan is survived by two daughters.

MRS. MARY J. PRESTON

Mrs. Mary J. Preston, wife of John Preston, died on Friday, December 28th, following an illness extending over a long period, at her home, 52 Warren street. The funeral was held Monday morning, a solemn high mass of requiem being celebrated in St. Agnes' church, the pastor, Rev. Mathew J. Flaherty, being the celebrant. Rev. Donald F. Simpson, deacon, and Rev. Joseph J. Leonard, sub-deacon. Music was by members of the church choir. At the offertory, Mrs. Mary Quinn Delany sang, "Pie Jesu" and at the close of the service, "De Profundis." The service was attended by a great many neighbors and friends and there were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were, Thomas Healey, John Duffy, Patrick Fermyole, Dennis Spillane, Michael Day and John Foohey. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Preston was a woman of fine character and had lived the greater part of her life in Arlington. She is survived by her husband, two daughters and two sons.

SERIOUS COASTING ACCIDENT

The first serious coasting accident of the season came on Sunday from the effect of which two Heights boys wound up in the Symmes Arlington Hospital.

The boys, Roger Downs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Downs, of 73 Tanager street and Westley Nowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman O. Nowell, of 5 West street, were coasting on Tanager street, and, according to the report received by the police after the accident, they coasted into a milk wagon driven by Robert Huk, of 18 Crescent Hill avenue.

The Downs' boy was more seriously injured, and was rushed to the Symmes Arlington Hospital, where it was later found that he had a slight fracture of the skull. The Nowell boy was taken to his home, but later to the Symmes Arlington Hospital with three broken ribs. Both young patients, however, are not considered dangerously injured.

The police have now posted every street in the upper section of the town warning against coasting. This measure was taken to avoid accidents, and unless the Selectmen set apart certain streets for coasting and allow no vehicles to enter these streets, the coasting will have to stop. The travel now is very heavy in practically every section of the town, which makes the stopping of coasting an absolute necessity.

ST. AGNES' CHRISTMAS PARTY

"Father Time's Trial," a one act comedy was presented in St. Agnes' lower church, Sunday afternoon, in connection with the annual Christmas party, for the children of St. Agnes' Parish. Upward of 1000 children of all ages attended. The play depicted Father Time presiding over a court of justice, Richard White taking the part of Father Time, Frank O'Neil, Thomas O'Keefe, Humphrey Sullivan and Gene Collins, impersonated the clerk, sheriff, plaintiff and defendant, while a bevy of girls acted as jurors. A group of little girls with dolls, made up a mother's club, attending the trial. Incidental to the trial, there were recitations by Miss Doris McCarthy, Miss Fannie Greig, Miss Margaret Dee, and Edward Campbell. Miss Helen O'Brien gave violin solos. The play was acted out in true court style. Just as the jury was giving its verdict, Santa Claus appeared, and after greeting the court and the children, announced that the court was closed and instead of pronouncing a sentence he would give candy and goodies to the children. Santa received a warm welcome on his rather belated call, and the children had a great time.

OTIS SKINNER IN "SANCHE PANZA"

Of unusual interest to those who care for the better things of the stage is the announcement that Otis Skinner will appear at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, in Melchior Lengyel's satirical comedy, "Sancho Panza," adopted from Miguel de Cervantes' famous story, "Don Quixote de la Mancha." Mr. Skinner will come to the Colonial Theatre, next Monday, January 7th, direct from the Hudson Theatre, New York, for a limited engagement of three weeks. The entire supporting cast that shared with him the honors of the New York engagement, will appear in Boston. "Sancho Panza" is an elaborate production, rich in color and movement, with singing and dancing and effective groupings of some fifty players. It has been staged by Richard Boleslawsky, of the Moscow Art Theatre. Russell Janney, producer of "Sancho Panza," has endeavored to maintain the spirit of Cervantes' "Don Quixote," so that those who are familiar with the famous Don and his encounter with the windmills may not be disappointed in the transferring of the atmosphere from the book to the stage. Even "Sancho Panza's" famous donkey, "Dapple," has not been overlooked. In fact, he shares honors with Mr. Skinner. There will be matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE 1924 MOSQUITO

The Board of Directors of the Anti-Mosquito Association of Massachusetts, Inc., declares that the time is already at hand for beginning the campaign against the 1924 mosquito. Last summer, because of anti-mosquito suppression measures aided by good weather conditions, the mosquito nuisance in the metropolitan District was less than in previous years. The chances are that still greater efforts will have to be made next year if this nuisance is to be prevented.

The most effective measures are drainage of swamp lands and oiling of standing water where drainage is impracticable. Now is the season when budgets are being discussed and appropriations made for the coming year. The Anti-Mosquito Association urges upon all city governments in the metropolitan area and throughout the state to include some appropriation for mosquito control. The amount of the appropriation should depend upon the nature of the problem at hand and will naturally vary greatly in different communities. No community can afford to overlook this important matter which so greatly concerns the health and comfort of the people.

BRYANT & STRATTON PASSES ITS 50th MILESTONE

Fifty-nine years ago, January 2, 1865, Bryant & Stratton Commercial School, of Boston, opened its doors for business training in the Merchants Library Association Building, 16 Summer street, Boston. At that time there were five schools in the city, offering limited business courses, but, for one cause or another, all except Bryant & Stratton have ceased to exist.

The changing demands of business since the 60's have called for many adjustments in the fitting courses, and to its progressiveness in meeting these changing conditions, combined with a thoroughness which has always characterized its instruction, may be attributed the constant growth in numbers and influence of this remarkable institution. Beginning with small courses in Book-keeping, Penmanship and Arithmetic, the curriculum has gradually broadened to include Secretarial Training, Higher Accounting, Business Administration, Commercial Teacher Training and preparation for Civil Service examinations.

The school has been singularly fortunate in its management, having had but two principals in the last 56 years. Mr. H. E. Hibbard became principal in 1868 and continued for nearly 50 years. In 1917, he was succeeded by Mr. J. W. Blaisdell, who brought to his task the experience of 30 years' intimate connection with the school in various positions. Under Principal Blaisdell the school has had a continuous growth in numbers and efficiency.

As early as 1887, the demand for Bryant & Stratton graduates had reached such proportions that, in order to render satisfactory service to graduates and business firms alike, it became necessary to establish an Employment Department, and although since that time the school has had a rapid growth in attendance, the increase in calls for its graduates has been still greater.

[Correspondence]

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 28, 1923.

Mr. Editor:—You being a veteran of the Civil War and a patriotic citizen, I thought you would be especially interested in the enclosed article. It was in the World Herald, a newspaper published in Omaha, Nebraska. I thought it was the best article, I had read on that subject.

Yours truly,
Edward C. Hill.

The article above referred to is as follows:—

"Along with the session of congress the American Legion has raised its perennial demand for a bonus for former soldiers and the views of one of them may be of interest to the readers of the World-Herald.

When the American soldiers were in France it was every man's idea that if he ever got back to 'God's country' alive, he would settle down and be satisfied with life. Quite a contrast to the discontent that is now being agitated.

Those ex-soldiers who were broke up in business when called into the army have generally regained their positions or business and are as well off as the rest of the people. There is little call for a bonus from that class of ex-soldiers.

Since the war it has generally been possible for the ex-soldiers to earn as much as, or more, than they ever earned before. Most of those who are now 'financially disabled' are so because they would rather do anything than work.

The writer has always been opposed to a bonus for able-bodied men because there never appeared to be any need for one and it was plain that the granting of one bonus would be followed by a demand for another. In any of the fifteen or twenty states which have given their ex-soldiers a bonus the agitators for more 'compensation' are as active as anywhere else.

For a year or so after its formation the American Legion was against any bonus on such grounds as 'there must be no price placed on patriotism.' 'Americans did not go to war for a bonus.' 'The able-bodied ex-soldiers can care for themselves,' etc. These statements are as true now as they were then, but the Legion has never, I believe, explained why it changed its stand on the subject. It was probably done with the purpose of trying to gain members. Finally, the call for a bonus carries with it the implication that the able-bodied ex-soldier is not able to make his way without help. If he needs help, now he always will."

SERIOUS FIRE STOPPED BY QUICK WORK OF OUR FIREMEN

By the quick and efficient work of our fire department, a serious fire was averted, which broke out at the home of Edward J. Foley, 30 Marathon street, New Year's evening.

When the firemen arrived, they found the cellar filled with smoke and great volumes pouring out from the same, and filling the upper rooms. The department fought the fire from the cellar, and succeeded in confining it there, although the flames had gotten considerable headway before the arrival of the apparatus.

The exact cause of the fire is not known, but that the firemen were able to stop the conflagration before it had caused a big loss, is a credit to the department. The loss is estimated at about $500.

CANDLE LIGHT SERVICE CALVARY METHODIST CHURCH

Unusual and surprisingly pretty effects were secured at the Calvary Methodist church last Sunday evening, at a "Candle Light service."

Beginning with total darkness, the illumination of the church was brought about gradually by the appearance first of a star, signifying the birth of Jesus, followed by a candle from each of the twenty centuries, since then.

The sixth century, in which church music had its inception, brought candle light to the choir, which during the service sang several of the old hymns and anthems. A primary class, holding tiny tapers, sang, "Jesus Bids Us Shine."

Following a brief sermon by Rev. A. J. Strait, little girls brought flames from the altar candles to the audience, each one of whom had been provided with a candle. Then, in the flood of light from the hundreds of candles in the crowded auditorium, arose the familiar and inspiring strains of "The Morning Light is Breaking, the Darkness Disappears," a fitting benediction to a most impressive service.

NEW RINK IN THE PROCESS OF MAKING

The boards for the new ice rink on the tennis courts on Spy Pond field, have been put in place and the interior has been swept of snow. The boards will be backed up with earth, and just as soon as there is more cold weather (the weather man says there is some coming soon) the place will be flooded and then the High school hockey team will be put to work in real earnest.

Physical Director Ralph Henricus, is much interested in getting proper equipment for the boys to have in connection with their sports and games, and he has presented to the school board an inexpensive line of ideas that should be carried out, in order to insure comfort for the boys and girls in their games.

At 2.45, the regular program of the meeting was opened with a greeting of welcome from Mrs. Waterman to guests and members. After the report of the recording secretary, a most delightful concert was presented by the Boston Orchestral Players, assisted by Mr. Raymond Simonds, tenor.

MRS. ABBIE FRANCIS FARMER DECEASED

Mrs. Abbie Francis Locke Farmer, widow of Edwin S. Farmer, passed away at midnight, New Year's Eve, at her home, 1173 Mass. avenue, Arlington, after almost a year's illness, from a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Farmer was born in Winchester, June 18th, daughter of Josiah and Priscilla Symmes Locke, and was in her seventieth year. She married Edwin S. Farmer, forty-eight years ago on Christmas Day, who passed away eleven years ago, last December. The couple have resided in Arlington for many years, Mr. Farmer having been, at one time, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and through his generosity the town has been greatly benefitted, in several ways. Mrs. Farmer attended public schools in Arlington and has always been interested in the town, but she was what would be spoken of as one interested especially in her home and its interests. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from her late home, the devotional service being conducted by Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., former minister of the First Baptist church, in Arlington. The Pilgrim Male Quartet rendered selections. The interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Farmer is survived by a brother, Stephen S. Locke, of Somerville, and a sister, Mrs. Louisa S. Russell, of Arlington, also fifteen nieces and nephews.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

—There will be a joint installation of Post 39, the American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary, in G. A. R. Hall, next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

—Mr. D. Herbert Buttrick and bride arrived in Arlington on Wednesday evening. They will live with Mr. Buttrick's parents, the David Buttricks, for the present.

—A most enjoyable Christmas party was given at the home of Mrs. O. T. Maher, Dow avenue, December 27th, the guests being girls of Mrs. Maher's Sunday school class of St. James' church. The girls proved to be young artists, in fancy dancing, speaking, and musicians of no mean ability. Games of all kinds were played, then Santa made his appearance with gifts for all. The girls reluctantly left, after giving three cheers for the hostess and all voting it a huge success.

HOUSEHOLD PROBLEMS

Mix  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sifted bread flour with  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoonful cream of tartar; fold this into the beaten whites and sugar. Flavor with either vanilla or almond. Bake in well greased

The Friendly Glow

THERE is filed today with the State Department of Public Utilities a new schedule of rates for Edison Service, effective February 1.

In calling attention to the new schedule at this time, 30 days in advance of its taking effect, the Company is conforming to its consistent policy of keeping its customers and the public informed about any developments or changes in its business practice.

The new rate schedule is a readjustment, affecting only about five per cent of the one hundred and ninety-five thousand customers who use Edison Service.

House lighting is not affected; all those who are paying the present "nine-and-one-half cent rate" will pay the same. That rate, now serving one hundred and seventy thousand customers, is still the lowest in the history of the company.

The "coal clause" and the "ten per cent clause," originally expected to be temporary when made necessary by war conditions, are now included in certain of the readjusted rates because those conditions still exist.

Customers who are earning exceptionally low rates, as large users of electricity, are subject to a very slight increase.

The rate for electric cooking is increased by the addition of about two mills per meal per person, but is still one of the lowest in the United States.

No increase of revenue to Edison Light is expected from this schedule as a whole, but instead there will be a more accurate sharing of the costs of producing Edison Light by users of the various types of service.

—Miss Miller entertained the members of her Sunday school class on Thursday afternoon, December 27th, at her home on Linden street.

—Rev. Alexander McCarthy, assistant to Rev. Fr. Heffernan at St. James' church, has been transferred to Franklin, Mass.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vaughn entertained a group of intimate friends at their home on Park avenue, to watch the old year out and the New Year in.

—Mr. H. H. Kendall and Miss Alice G. Kendall leave tomorrow, Saturday, January 5th, for Miami, Florida, where they will spend the winter, returning to Arlington, some time in April.

—The Sunshine Club was entertained on Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. F. W. Hewitt, at Park Circle. A business meeting was held the first part of the afternoon, followed by a social hour with refreshments.

—Miss Helen M. Warren, of Cliff street, left for St. Petersburg, Florida, last Sunday evening to spend the winter. Miss Warren is a teacher at the Crosby school and has been granted seven months' leave of absence.

—Some time last Friday evening a stone or small piece of ice was thrown through the bulletin board in front of the Park Avenue Congregational church, smashing the glass and wrecking the Christmas tidings announced therein. Suspicion centers on coaters in that section.

—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Peirce and family returned this week from Falmouth, where they spent the Christmas week and New Year's at their cottage there. Mr. Peirce and his sons enjoyed the splendid duck shooting. On New Year's Eve, Mr. and Mrs. Peirce entertained friends with a wild duck dinner, covers being laid for ten.

—General Nelson Monroe, of 178 Westminster avenue, who was among those remembered by the Sunshine Club with a basket of "Good Cheer," wishes to thank the club for it and to extend his wish to them for a Happy New Year. He not only appreciated the good things in the basket, but also the beautiful basket which was made so artistically, and also the kindly thought of the givers.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Byram gave a delightful Christmas party at their home on Florence avenue, when dancing was the diversion. The house was elaborately and beautifully decorated in the laurel wreaths and streamers, and there was also a gorgeous Christmas tree, which held a gift for every one present. An elaborate spread was served in the dining room.

—Mr. Arthur Davis, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Davis, of the Heights, returned to Colgate University, Hamilton, N. Y., where he is a student, having spent the Christmas holidays with his parents. The college glee club of which he is a member, held a musical contest with three other colleges in Utica, New York, and since Mr. Davis sings several solo parts, he was obliged to leave early in the week. The contest was held on Monday, December 31st.

—Word has been received at the Heights of the passing of Mrs. George Bunton, at South Portland, Maine. Mrs. Bunton was at one time an active member of the Park Avenue Congregational church. Her quiet but pleasant manner, won many friends who regretted her removal from the Heights, two years ago, to South Portland, where Mr. and Mrs. Bunton went to reside. Mrs. Bunton was stricken with a shock (which was the second one), three weeks before her death, followed by the third a few days before her passing. She leaves many sweet memories among her friends and her two children, who are Mr. William E. Bunton, of Arlington, and Mrs. A. M. (Levina) Chase, of New York. There are three grandchildren. Mrs. Bunton passed away December 22nd, and the funeral was held December 24th. The burial was in Maine.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Richert entertained thirty friends, at their home, at 10 Linden street, on New Year's Eve.

—Mr. Edward Powell left Wednesday, January 2nd, for Daytona, Florida, to resume his concert work. He will fill many engagements in the south this winter.

—Announcement has been made in our advertising columns of the opening of a wall paper and paint store, at 1310A Mass. avenue, by Joseph H. Bean, where a first class line of domestic and imported wall papers will be sold. Orders for any kind of wall paper will be taken and satisfactorily filled.

—Mrs. George H. Bailey was hostess of a "send-off" party to Miss Alice G. Kendall, who left for Florida, for the winter months, on Thursday evening, January 3rd. The birthday of Mr. George Bailey was also celebrated and a very pleasant time was spent with the friends present. Many congratulations were extended to Mr. Bailey and wishes of good luck on her journey, to Miss Kendall.

—Mrs. Charles McAuley entertained twelve friends of her daughters, the Misses Blanche McAuley and Isabelle Conklin, at their annual vacation party on New Year's Day, with luncheon. Covers were laid for fourteen and the decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season. Favors were Christmas novelties. Following the luncheon, the afternoon was spent with music and games.

—The Misses Edith and Alice Johnson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson, entertained friends of Miss Charlotte Lloyd, on New Year's Day, with a party. Miss Lloyd, who has been ill and unable to walk, was brought to the Johnson home on Florence avenue, and thoroughly enjoyed the delightful afternoon with her friends, who made every effort to please and entertain her. Games and music and a social good time was enjoyed.

—Donald L. Bean, of 62 Lowell street, made a record traveling trip last week, when he started out to hike to Buffalo, with 36 cents in his pocket, on Wednesday, at 2.30, and arrived in Buffalo, on Friday afternoon, with 35 cents of the 36 cents still on hand, the other cent being used to send a card home at Syracuse, N. Y., to tell his parents that he was safe. He spent the week-end with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Rose, in Buffalo, and returned by train on New Year's Day, to his home.

—Mrs. H. H. Stinson entertained her old Sunday school class of boys on Thursday evening with a Christmas party, when a pleasant evening was spent with games and music. The boys presented Mrs. Stinson with $10 in gold. The members of the class present were, George Barnes, Donald Meekin, Donald and Gordon Keyes, Gustaf Andersen, Walter Nicoll, John Gruber, Eldridge Crockett, a student at Kents Hill school, in Maine, who is spending the Christmas holidays at home, was also present, and James Hall, of Winchester, formerly of the Heights.

—A large number of Junior department members and their parents, enjoyed a Christmas party, at the Park Avenue Congregational church, last Friday afternoon. A play, "The Magic Eve," under the direction of Miss Gladys Brenton, was given by the following members, Marjorie, Edith Yeager; Billie, Sheridan Brown; Christmas fairy, Barbara Cathcart; Christmas tree, Pauline Brown; Jack Rabbit, Lindville Higgins; Christmas waifs, Warren Downs, Murray Roberts, Leslie Peterson and Emery Battis; Holly-wreaths, Miriam Snow; Milly Brown; Oranges, Henry Doane, Lawrence Hall; Nuts, Paul Barris; Theodore Richardson; Popcorn maids, Alice Cutter and Alice Brenton; Christmas Clowns, Herbert Peirce and Robert Manning; Mother, Miss Muriel Moody. Following the play, candy and presents were distributed from the tree, which was in charge of Miss Ward and Miss Cooper. Ice cream and cake was served, in charge of Mrs. Charlton and Mrs. Joseph. The games were in charge of Miss Moody. Mrs. H. L. Stratton, wife of the pastor of the church, was presented with a beautiful console set of brass, from the Junior department members.

—As has been the custom for many years, the members of the Sunshine Club were the guests of Mrs. W. O. Partridge, for its annual New Year's party, which was held Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Partridge, on Claremont avenue. The afternoon was unusually delightful, as there were present many of the long time members of the club, who are not always able to be present. One lady was heard to remark, that it was the most enjoyable gathering the members had ever been permitted to enjoy with the hostess, and that was saying a great deal, for Mrs. Partridge's hospitality is well known among her many friends. The first part of the afternoon was given over to the playing of straight whist and at its close, the hostess presented souvenirs to the highest scorers, who were Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Charles Brockway, Mrs. Alexander Livingstone, Mrs. George H. Lloyd, Mrs. O. Anderson, Mrs. J. L. Bixby, Mrs. Willard S. Cooke, Mrs. O. B. Vinal. A delicious spread was served in the dining room from a lovely decorated table, the flowers being pink. A social hour followed, when a most enjoyable musicale was given by Misses Edith and Alice Holmes, who play so charmingly, one the cello and the other the violin; accompanied at the piano by Louise Bacon, who also favored the company with several piano selections. Another interesting innovation to the gathering, was the reading by Mrs. Par-

The Watch Night Service of the Park Avenue Congregational, First Methodist Episcopal and Baptist churches, at the Heights, held on Monday evening, December 31st, at the Heights Baptist church, was very well attended in spite of the poor weather.

A social gathering was held at 8.45 o'clock, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, assisted by members of the social committee of the Christian Endeavor Society. A light lunch was served. A song service closed the social hour at 10.45 p. m., after which all met in the auditorium of the church for the service.

Rev. R. J. Davis was in charge of the order of service and Rev. Harold L. Stratton, gave the address, appropriate to the occasion. Rev. H. T. Coontz was to have taken part in the service, but on account of illness was not present. After Rev. Stratton's address, Rev. Mr. Davis made a few remarks in keeping with the evening service. At 11.45, several candles were lighted and the electric lights extinguished, and for fifteen minutes the entire company sat in meditation and prayer, and with the coming of the New Year, sang, "Oh God Our Help In Ages Past." The service closed with the hymn, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and many wishes of glad New Year to each and all present. The whole service was impressive and every one who took part, felt benefited for having made the effort to be present.

ST. JAMES THEATRE

In celebration of the annual Drama Week, at the St. James, Mr. Giles' Company will be seen this week in Frances Nordstrom's melodrama, "The Eleventh Commandment." This is not a mystery play. It is pure melodrama, its suspense and fascination lies in watching the play of character upon character and in following the workings of the mind and nature of a powerful personality. The play is built upon the character of Vere Hamilton, a man who has risen from nothing to great wealth and thinks that everything can be bought for money. Mr. Gilbert and Miss Bushnell will play the leading roles, while Mr. Darnay will supply the villainy. They will be supported by the full strength of the company.

FRANK M. HARWOOD ELECTED
COMMANDER OF POST 39,
AMERICAN LEGION

Frank M. Harwood was unanimously elected commander of Arlington Post 39, American Legion, at its annual meeting held Friday, December 28th, at the Post headquarters, in Associates' Building.

In selecting Commander Harwood, the Post has not only conferred an honor that is justly deserved, but it has secured a leader who has proved himself capable for the position, for he has had a most honorable and enviable war record, and was doubly honored during the late war and now holds a Distinguished Service Medal, also a French Croix de Guerre.

Commander Harwood served in 1916 with Company M, 8th Infantry, M. N. G., on the Mexican border. On being relieved from this service, he was called to join his outfit, went overseas, to France, a part of the famous 104th Infantry of the 26th Division. He was later transferred to the 9th U. S. Infantry of the 2nd Regiment. In this regiment he saw hard service as a dispatch bearer of the company, which necessitated risking his life every time he was sent out with messages, but he never failed to get through the lines, although he had many times to run the fire of the German machine guns. It was just before Armistice was signed, that Commander Harwood received three shrapnel wounds, one of which he still carries in one of his legs.

Commander Harwood was born in Arlington, a twin, and his parents have long been residents of the town, his mother, Mrs. Myra R. Harwood, still occupying the home at 600 Mass. avenue, which property has been in the family for a long period of years. His grandfather on his maternal side, was Arlington's shoemaker, occupying the shop where now Mr. Benard Romsisky is located. He, like his family, has been active in the First Universalist church of Arlington. Commander Harwood married Ruth V. Hills, of Waltham, who has recently been elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Post, and with this strong team, together with the efficient officers who have been elected to serve with Commander Harwood, there is reason to expect an active winter for both organizations. The other officers elected to serve the Post are as follows:—Dr. William T. McCarty, senior vice-commander; Frederick T. Fallon, junior vice-commander; Charles P. Ladd, Jr., adjutant; Leonard C. Pimm, historian; Chester R. Whitman, finance officer; Charles J. Riley, Robert K. Wallace, Walter Lennon and John A. Colbert, executive committee. The officers will be installed next Tuesday evening.

COMMUNITY MEN'S CLUB

The Community Men's Club, of Arlington Heights, conducted a New Year's dance in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on New Year's Eve, that was participated in by a large company, many of whom have been missed of late, at dancing parties, and whose presence made it a pleasure for long time friends to meet once again in this enjoyable way.

The decorations were the same as those used at the Sowers Lend-a-Hand dance, on the Saturday evening previous, the only innovation being a handsome calendar of the year which the company had come to usher in. Tinkham's orchestra played for the dancing and gave much satisfaction. There was an elimination dance introduced, that gave a bit of variety to the evening's pleasure.

The party was noticeable for the attendance of all ages—from the lads and lassies to their sires and even grand-sires—all meeting in this happy way, which is the real community spirit, and for which the club stands, and which it is endeavoring to foster on the hill.

The dressing was both formal and informal. There were many handsome gowns noted, however, worn for the most part, by the matrons present. Red and blue seemed to dominate and were most effective.

The merry making came just before twelve o'clock, when the favors, that had been previously distributed, were made to fulfill their purpose and these, together with the singing of Jingle Bells, made it evident that 1924 was being ushered in, in a manner befitting its arrival. Paper caps were donned and there came floating down from the balcony, paper streamers in all colors that added to the festive scene. Auld Lang Syne was sung as friends joined hands in a circle.

The committee for the dance was Messrs. F. O. Johnson, chairman, Floyd R. Battus, William W. Wilson, George B. Otley, Harry I. Tinkham, Sherman H. Peppard, F. L. Kerch-gassner, Harold Smith.

The Hardy Catering Company furnished refreshments during intermission.

ANNUAL MEETING OF M. Y. O. B.

"May You Observe Brotherhood"

The annual banquet and election of officers of M. Y. O. B., was held on the evening of December 28th, 1923, at "Ye Lantern."

To many people that would be all that would interest them, but to the members who attended, and some who did not, it means a new year, a bigger year and one of the best times M. Y. O. B. has ever had on the shore of Spy Pond, and that is saying considerable.

The "Mess Call" was sounded at 7.30 p. m., and for the next hour every one had but one thought, eats, the Hardy Catering Company furnished the dinner, and no more need be said.

At 8.30, President Anderson called the meeting to order, with a few remarks on his western trip, and how glad he was to be back in Arlington once more and back with the boys. Mr. Jones, the treasurer, was next called on and after several minutes hesitation he attempted to tell the boys what he had been doing in the wilds of Pembroke, all summer, and what he intended to do on dues this winter. Secretary Bennett had a few suggestions for consideration. The annual address of Superintendent Crowley was next on the programme, and as usual was the event of the evening. Mr. Anderson then called for nominations for president for the ensuing year. Mr. Anderson was the first name suggested, and the nominations were closed, with the secretary instructed to cast one ballot for Anderson; Bennett for vice-president; Jones for treasurer, and Rene Frati for secretary, no opposition. The matter of a meeting place for the year was next taken up, and Mr. Anderson presented an offer from Mr. Corpor, of "Ye Lantern," for the 2nd and 4th Fridays of the month, that was accepted by the Council. A programme for the next six months, was then presented by Bennett, including lectures, dances, camping trips, sleigh parties, etc., that met with instant approval by all, and means one of the busiest years M. Y. O. B. has ever known, and one that will be well worth while for any young man to follow.

The following three applications for membership were acted upon, and accepted, Harold G. Bennett, Robert F. Needham, and Harry G. Hjerpe. The installation of the new officers will be held at "Ye Lantern," January 11, 1924, at 7.30 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE

The Watch Night service, participated in by seven of the Protestant churches in Arlington, was held in the First Parish Unitarian church, Monday evening, beginning at 10.45 p. m.

A heavy rain through the day gave place in the evening, to a misty atmosphere that suggested snow, the temperature having dropped during the latter part of the afternoon, which made walking a bit difficult. These conditions no doubt, affected somewhat the attendance, but there was a fairly good representation of all the denominations participating.

The ministers who represented the seven churches, occupied seats on the pulpit platform and were, Dr. Frederic Gill, minister of the First Parish church; Rev. Don Ivan Patch, of the Orthodox Congregational church; Rev. James E. Norcross, Trinity Baptist church; Rev. A. J. Strait, Calvary Methodist church; Dr. Henry Sterling Potter, First Baptist church; Rev. Charles F. Patterson, First Universalist church, and Rev. Charles Taber Hall, rector of the St. John's Episcopal church, the latter, who gave the sermon of the evening. The scripture was read by Rev. Mr. Patterson and the prayer was made by Dr. Potter, and each of the other ministers had a part in the service.

The Pilgrim Male Quartet, assisted by Miss Theresa Sprague, gave the vocal selections of the service, and their music was much enjoyed. Miss Sprague has a beautiful voice, and her number, "Ring Out Wild Bells," was sung with dramatic effect. The quartet rendered four numbers. They were, the Welch Carol, "The Year is Dying," that was especially finely sung; "The End of a Perfect Day," "Eternity," and a special arrangement of "Sweet Hour of Prayer." The Organist, Miss Hattie Snow, played for the prelude, "Largo," from the World's Symphony. Andante by Beethoven, and for the postlude, "Gloria," from Mozart's 12th Mass.

Mr. Hall found the subject of his sermon in the 21st chapter of Genesis, which relates to the story of Rachel, and her stealing of one of the images from her father, which to her was the one precious thing coveted, as she was about to go into a strange country. Mr. Hall took this story to illustrate his thought and teach the lesson he wished to bring to his audience, which was, that we do not have to steal our God. He is always ready to be found if we will but show a desire for Him. We must feel our need of Him, if He is to be our help and guide. We cannot live without Him. We need Him today more than ever before. In our homes, and in our Nation. If, however, we really desire Him, we shall not wish to hide Him as Rachel did her image, but we shall want to share His love with those about us. We all need God, was the final message of the speaker as the last few minutes of the old year slipped away ushering the audience into the presence of 1924, which was received in silent prayer. As the last stroke of the clock on the church steeple died away, the audience joined in singing the Doxology.

ARLINGTON BOY SCOUTS

At the regular meeting of the Awarding Court of Honor, held Thursday evening, December 20th, in the old Town Hall, Judge John G. Brackett, presided in place of Judge James P. Parmenter, who was ill. Frank E. Thompson, of the Court of Honor assisted Judge Brackett and presented the Life and Star badges with a few well chosen and helpful words.

Twenty-two merit badges were given to five scouts and one second class badge as follows:—George Chalmers, Troop 2, second class; Kenneth Draper, Troop 2, life, star, athletics; Walter H. Taft, Jr., of Troop 6, masonry; James D. Wood, Troop 6, athletics, first aid, marksmanship; Charles T. Atwood, Troop 6, marksmanship, masonry, handicraft, mining forestry; Wescott Atwood, Troop 6, cooking, handicraft, bird study, mining, forestry, camping, electricity; James D. Wood, Troop 6, athletics, first aid, marksmanship, pioneering, life, star.

There will be an exhibit of Boy Scout work in the Public Library, next week, consisting of badges, and samples of handicraft. It will be worth seeing. Drop in and have a look.

Chairman Fred E. Brown and Executive Harvey H. Bacon, through the courtesy of James E. Burke, of Lexington, visited seven proposed camp sites, last week, in Bedford, Billerica and Concord.

Plans are being drawn up for the establishing of a troop of scouts in the Unitarian church, Arlington Center. The committee having the matter in hand consists of the Rev. Frederic Gill, Superintendent Atterbury, of the Sunday School and Major Norman R. Willard.

ARLINGTON BOARD OF TRADE

the school committee would be willing to have the members use the school gym, one night each week. Mr. Henricus stated that there is a class of 75 young men at the gym, each week, under his direction. They play basketball, volley ball and indoor baseball and secure a good deal of healthy exercise. He encouraged the men to start in and offered his services.

It now looks as if the town would have a free parking space for automobiles in the business section of the town. Rufus W. Blake, who is a member of the committee, sent out to look into this matter, told the meeting of a conference he had with the B. & M. R. R. officials relative to the land near the center depot, and that everything looked favorable. All he was waiting for was to hear what the rent will be, before making his final report to the organization.

Mr. Forsaith gave a lengthy report on the meeting he attended as a delegate on Commercial Arbitration Statutes, and the organization adopted his recommendations regarding this new form of statutes which makes it a law to arbitrate.

William MacNeil was not satisfied with the way the town planning board is going ahead with its work, and wanted action. He said that it was about time that the Board of Trade showed its hand and had an article inserted in the town warrant, asking for an appropriation of $5,000, for some town planning. Elliott R. Barker reported that the town planning board is holding a meeting this week, and would undoubtedly have some definite plan to offer the town at the March meeting, and until the citizens know what this plan is, they should wait a while.

The speaker of the evening was George E. MacIlwain, of the Babson Statistical Organization. Mr. MacIlwain gave a talk on, "The Business Outlook for 1924." By use of a chart he showed the rise and fall of business during the past twenty years. He is sure that now we are about reaching normal conditions in business. He cited many instances to prove this, making his talk interesting as well as informing.

The speaker of the afternoon will be, Mrs. Arthur J. Wellman, social worker for the Newton Court. The Florence Crittenton League and members are urged to be present. Members may also bring guests, but are asked to notify the hostess before the day.

=John Crosby, M. A. College, class of 1924, who has recently been elected chairman of the Junior Prom committee, spent the holiday vacation of the college with his parents, Selectman and Mrs. Nelson B. Crosby, at their home on Davis avenue. He had as his guests, two of his classmates, Fred B. Bunker, Jr., of Cranbury, N. J., and David Horner, of Montpelier, Ohio. These young men came to Arlington the day after Christmas, ready for call to practice at the Boston Arena.

=Two automobiles, one operated by William Sparrow, of 179 Maplewood street, Watertown, and the other operated by Hawthorne E. Rust, of 179 Hawthorne street, Malden, were in collision at Medford and Warren streets, with the result that both machines were badly smashed and Mrs. Sparrow and Mrs. Rust, who were passengers in the cars, were cut about the face with flying glass from the windshields. The two women were taken to the office of Dr. Daniel J. Buckley, where their wounds were treated and after which they were taken home.

=Wednesday morning, attention was drawn by a long string of automobiles in front of the police station. The reason was, that all had antiquated number plates instead of the pretty maroon and white, required for 1924. The drivers of the machines were taken before Chief Urquhart and their papers looked over. In some cases the operators had numbers, but had not put them on. These were allowed to get their plates and after putting them on, were permitted to drive away. There were others who had to go to South Boston and obtain their plate numbers before they were allowed to drive the machine. The police were acting according to law, for no one had a right after noon, on Tuesday, to wear the old number plates.

=Alice Bowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bowler, of 15 Norcross street, was struck by an automobile reported as operated by Arthur W. Lane, of Somerville, while crossing Broadway, near Winter street, on her way to school. The Bowler girl was with other children at the time and Mr. Lane stated after the accident, that in trying to avoid the girls, he swung one side and the Bowler girl cut in front of him. She was hit by a mudguard and knocked down. Mr. Lane took the girl home, where examination showed that she was not seriously injured.

=Francis Gould Post 36, the W. R. C. of the Post, Sons of Veterans and their Auxiliary, have joined hands for a series of whist parties in G. A. R. Hall, beginning Saturday evening, January 5th, and continuing through the winter, the proceeds to be devoted to Post 36's treasury.

=On New Year's Day the High school ice hockey team was to play the Alumni, but only three of the latter, and not all of the High school team showed up at Hill's Pond, the boys feeling that there was no ice. There really wasn't ice enough for the game, but a scrub team was picked up, and the High school won out by a score of two to nothing.

=A trip to Hill's Pond early this week, convinced one at least that the ice was far from being safe for skating. In fact there was only one place where a person could get on to the ice. The edges were broken away from the shore and there was ice floating about in large cakes, over which the boys were skating. During the short ice hockey game, several of the boys went in but continued playing. The pond was dangerous, and many a narrow escape from going into an open space, was witnessed by the on-looker.

=The bowling team of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association, in the Newton League, got bumped out of first place in the matches, last week, but promptly went back in that position, after the matches on Wednesday evening, on the home alleys. The club is now tied for first place with the Commercial Club, of Brockton. After another week, the M. S. A. feel certain that they will have a clinch of first place. In the Amateur Boston pin league, the team still holds forth in first place.

=Wednesday evening, Dr. Bruce I. Lawley, discovered smoke coming from the cellar in his home, 214 Mass. avenue. He notified the fire department, by telephone, at the Central Fire Station, which responded and found that a dry mop had become ignited, probably by a spontaneous combustion, and had set fire to the wood work, which had become charred. By the removal of the mop and the applying of some water, the danger was removed of a serious conflagration.

The New ESSEX

A SIX

Built by Hudson under Hudson Patents

Essex closed car comforts now cost $170 less than ever before. Also with this lower price you get an even more attractive Coach body and a six cylinder motor built on the principle of the famous Hudson Super-Six.

It continues Essex qualities of economy and reliability, known to 135,000 owners. It adds a smoothness of performance which heretofore was exclusively Hudson's. Both cars are alike in all details that count for long satisfactory service at small operating cost.

You will like the new Essex in the nimble ease of its operation. Gears shift quietly. Steering is like guiding a bicycle, and care of the car calls for little more than keeping it lubricated. That, for the most part, is done with an oil can.

The chassis design lowers the center of gravity, giving greater comfort and safety, at all speeds, on all roads. You will be interested in seeing how this is accomplished.

Greater fuel economy is obtained. The car is lighter, longer and roomier. You will agree that from the standpoint of appearance, delightful performance, cost and reliability, the new Essex provides ideal transportation.
